

Location Grand Ballroom Lounge,
Adele H. Stamp Student Union
Date Wednesday, April 12th, 2017
Time 2:00-3:30PM

GLOBAL HEALTH & CULTURE
Lecture Series

A Tale of Two Global Healths

A Discussion with Gates Foundation's

Dr. Nicole Bates

Nicole Bates is Deputy Director for Multilateral Partnerships at the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. Currently on assignment at UNICEF as a senior advisor, Nicole is working closely on an initiative to increase UNICEF's impact for children by harmonizing and strategically activating advocacy, communication, fundraising, public engagement and brand assets across the agency.

Welcome Remarks by Dean Boris D. Lushniak (SPH)

Open Admissions till Seats Filled

The annual lecture facilitates interdisciplinary engagements focused on the social context of health among the University of Maryland College Park community, especially undergraduate students.

*The Global Health and Culture lecture series is a collaborative effort between the College of Behavioral & Social Sciences and the School of Public Health

SPECIAL THANKS TO OUR GENEROUS SPONSORS:

Department of Anthropology – College of Behavioral & Social Sciences – Maryland Institute for Applied Environmental Health – School of Public Health – Office of Undergraduates Studies – Office of Diversity and Inclusion – Public Health Without Borders – College Park Scholars

Contacts

Thurka Sangaramoorthy at tsangara@umd.edu
Lis Maring at efmaring@umd.edu